Malawi taxes

If you want to do business in Malawi, you have to know about taxation for a LLC which is the most common company structure in Malawi.

Malawi taxes corporate income on a territorial basis. This means that income accrued outside the borders, from our research and this is not personal advice, is not subject to taxation. The headline Malawi-source income corp. tax rate is 30%. This ranks Malawi as 136th when compared to CIT globally.

The value added tax (VAT) rate in Malawi is 16.50%, that ranks Malawi as 107th when compared to value added tax rate worldwide. In terms of other taxation, an employer will contribute 10% to the equivalent of a social security fund and an employee will contribute 5%. The overall complexity of the tax system is medium. This is measured by average time to comply with a country's labor tax requirements is as it is 78hours. Contributing to this is the number of yearly labor tax payments, which is 1 in MW.

Thin cap restrictions aren't officially enacted. This refers to any type of laws on companies' debt-to-asset ratios. Dividends received from Malawi entities are subject to a final withholding tax of 10%. Dividends from foreign entities are not generally subject to taxation. A dividend is a distribution of a portion of a company profit, decided by the board, to a particular class of shareholders. Dividends can be issued as shares of stock, cash payments, or other property. Capital Gains usually included in corporate income tax base, except those from the disposal of assets not used in connection with trade of the company and those from the sale of shares which has been held more than 1 year in the Stock Exchange of Malawi. A capital gains tax is levied on the profits that a corporation or natural person realizes when he or she sells a capital asset for a price that is higher than the purchase price.

The interest withholding tax rate is estimated at 15%. Which means that the tax authorities expects resident entities to pay tax on 15% of interests remitted abroad .
